Assistance

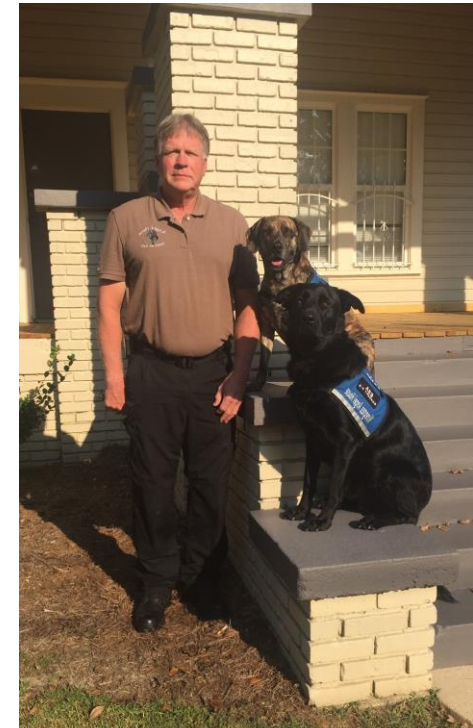

Angel Paws is another avenue that is provided to help victims through their trauma. By presenting the therapy dogs, the victims may feel loved and not judged from their experience. By providing a therapy dog in the court setting, it may alleviate the anxiety and fear by the witness and help them work through their stress. The therapy dog will be there for love and support as their silent partner.

"We are excited to have a dog therapy program in the Wiregrass area. It is great to have another way to help victims and witnesses of violence to make their journey a little less traumatic."
